Lemtrans paid UAH 540 million in taxes over H1 2023

LEMTRANS

Since the first days of the all-out invasion, Lemtrans has been helping with logistics and supporting the national economy. Also, the company continues to invest in the national economy despite the challenges of the full-scale war.

Over H1 2023, Lemtrans paid about UAH 540 million in taxes to the national and local budgets. In particular, Lemtrans paid UAH 506 million to the national budget, UAH 33.8 million to local budgets, and UAH 19.8 million as a consolidated social tax. Compared with 2022, the company paid 11.7% more in taxes to all kinds of budgets.

Lemtrans CEO Volodymyr Mezentsev said: “Lemtrans continues paying taxes to the national and local budgets as one of the key roles of any business is to ensure transparent and timely payment of taxes. We need to understand that each hryvnia paid to the budget means helping our fighters and supporting the country in general. Thus, we will keep acting as a pillar of support and a reliable partner of the country”.
