Rinat Akhmetov visits Yana Stepanenko, who was injured in the missile strike on Kramatorsk railway station, at her home in Kyiv

Our shareholder Rinat Akhmetov has visited Yana Stepanenko, who was injured in the missile strike on Kramatorsk railway station in 2022 and lost both legs.

The meeting took place in Yana's apartment in Kyiv, which the Rinat Akhmetov Foundation gave her in 2025.

> "I am very glad to be here today as Yana's guest. I met her and her mother and saw how they live. We had tea and talked. Yana is a sweet, kind and beautiful girl. For me, she is a symbol of courage, resilience and determination. And, of course, I want her to be happy and for everything to go well for her. For my part, I will do everything I can to make that happen," said Mr Akhmetov.

During the visit, Yana showed Mr Akhmetov how she had furnished the apartment over the past year. She also showed him what had helped turn the new flat into a cosy home that she always wants to come back to.

> "This is our second meeting. He is always so friendly and cheerful. I like the apartment very, very much. It's big, there's lots of space. I'm here often, but I plan to move in properly when I turn 16. After school, I'm going to do a barber course. I'll do the course. I'll work," said Yana.

The visit was more than a conversation. Mr Akhmetov gave Yana a new smartphone and told her she could call him at any time if she ever needed to.

Despite her severe injuries, Yana leads an active life. She runs, takes part in marathons and already has her own sporting achievements. In spring 2024, she completed the 5 km race at the Boston Marathon. In March 2025, she ran 5 km at the Tokyo Marathon wearing a Shakhtar football shirt.

Yana has received an honorary state award from the President of Ukraine, the "Future of Ukraine" medal. The medal is given to young citizens for bravery, resilience and patriotism.
